

2017 Rutgers Lectures in Philosophy

Freedom of Speech for All Its Discovery, Its Value, and Its Boundaries

Sir Richard Sorabji

Honorary Fellow, Wolfson College
Oxford University

Public Lecture:

Freedom of Speech for All The Gradual Process of Discovery, East and West

Alexander Library
Teleconference Lecture Hall, Room 403
Rutgers University–New Brunswick
Monday, October 30, 3:00-5:00pm
Reception to follow

Join us again for the following lectures:

Freedom of Speech: Voluntary Boundaries When It Stops Discussion, and the Art of Continuing Discussion
by Other Means

Thursday, November 2, 3:00-5:00pm
Alexander Library
Teleconference Lecture Hall, Room 403
Reception to follow

Freedom of Speech: Difficulties in Framing and Policing Legal Boundaries

Friday, November 3, 3:00-5:00pm
Rutgers Academic Building
Room 2125
Reception to follow

RUTGERS
School of Arts and Sciences

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS